Why pay the steep mark-up on mass produced case goods, when you can get custom cabinets made to measure at wholesale prices?

For over two decades, Bay Area interior designers and architects have been using Kleid Design Group to design, manufacture and install beautiful kitchen cabinets, bathroom vanities, library bookshelves, window seats, and home office furniture.

Previously “to the trade” only, Kleid Design Group is now available to anyone looking for custom cabinetry or storage systems.

Whether you have an idea in mind, or don’t know where to start, owner Jonathan Kleid and his network of local craftspeople and specialized manufacturers will take care of you. They will help you design your cabinets, have them manufactured to your exact specifications, then install them so that they fit your space perfectly.

“We have a huge range of resources and suppliers, both locally and nationwide,” says owner Jonathan Kleid. “We can produce almost anything.”

Jonathan meets with clients in their homes so that he can get a clear understanding of their requirements and deliver exactly what they want. He has a photographic portfolio showing the many unique solutions they have created for different situations.

They build cabinets, home entertainment centers, display cases for every purpose, home office furniture, built-in closets and garage organization systems.

The possibilities are endless. You choose the material (wood, laminate, etc.), style, and finish that’s right for you. Each piece is then tailor-made to your requirements, before being installed in your home or office.

“Because we don’t spend a fortune on advertising, or have the expense of a retail store, we can concentrate on providing excellent customer service,” Jonathan explains. “We offer tremendous value for money on custom cabinetry and storage systems.”
